

Getting customers to buy your products and services is more critical than ever. Your marketing and communications should demand action and help increase sales. You need to motivate your clients, employees and vendors to support your growth, and with the right partner you can.

Swell Media Company is a results-oriented service provider that offers creative services for companies large and small. We write copy, create marketing tools, and delve into different communication channels that motivate your target audience.

Projects have included:

- Consulting and creating presentations for global sales teams
- Copywriting B2B brochures for global distribution
- Creating multiple case studies for financial services and technology companies
- Writing web content for investment services
- Developing and managing international tradeshow and seminars

We want to be a service partner that provides more than just words. We want to help get results.

Our specialty is B2B writing and marketing services that are tailored to target audiences and marketing needs. We advise, create and deliver services that enhance the communication and marketing experience for your audience. Services available include:

Copywriting

Brochure and sales copy, articles, emails, business letters, case studies, white papers, press releases, biographies, scripts, proposals, presentations, speeches, blogs, online profiles, and more

Marketing & Communications

Strategy and planning, research and insights, project management, PR support, marketing tools and materials, implementation, and more

Event Support

Planning and managing seminars and other events, facilitating business meetings, trade show support, and more

Go to swellmediacompany.com to learn more or contact us on 1-203-820-6061 or at info@swellmediacompany.com